

About Harrington Wyles:

Harrington Wyles is a consultancy that has expertise specifically in the self storage industry. It is owned and managed by Jon Wyles, a Chartered Surveyor with over 20 years of commercial property experience, focusing on the self storage sector.

In 2004, he set up Smart Storage Ltd then has spent the past eight years as CEO, creating and developing Smart Storage into one of the premier independent self storage companies in North West England.

Requirements:

It is his website: www.harringtonwyles.com

Jon was looking for a professional company to translate his website into Chinese, so it would have a multi-language option and can be read in both Chinese and English. Once it is complete he was looking a contractor to carry out the SEO work to optimize the website for relevant search terms. Eventually, he chose us from dozens of competitors for his bilingual website creation and website translation.

1. Website creation: The client needs our web engineers to develop a bilingual website based on the platform of WordPress.

2. Website localization: This website should be a bilingual one of both English and Simplified Chinese. This needs not only translating the web page contents into Chinese, but also understanding of the China market so he could use it as an effective marketing tool to open China market.

The following is www.harringtonwyles.com which we are involved with its development and localization based on the popular open-source CMS word press.
