With the development of medical science, there're varieties of medicine, the usage of which is more and more specific, also the medical culture communication among countries spreads more and more widely. Thus, medical translation plays a very important role in the translation field.

Why it matters

Medical translation is of very strong profession, the meaning of the word is strictly limited by the collocation words and context. Therefore, it should be made corresponding change and lexical processing to make the text be precise and complete, scientific and standard.

•Professional Medical Translators

CCJK has the special medical translators team for medical translation, all of them are highly educated with medical background on graduate degree or bachelor degree, have good language skills and plenty of experience for over five years. So they can undertake difficult tasks with high level of requirements.

•Three Processes for Medical Translation Service

We will not only perform a one-time translation step, but also we will add two processes to proofread & review, to assure the translation is error-free and of the highest possible standard. This means we will assign at least 3 linguists to the project: we translate from scratch by a linguist, then pass the translated documents to another editor for reviewing, and finally to a 3rd proofreader for polishing.

•Customer-oriented Philosophy

CCJK always insists on quality first, integrity-based, customer-oriented philosophy to complete the tasks at fast speed with high efficiency, as each member was ever trained specially, if the client requires urgent delivery, CCJK can work overtime to make all efforts to meet the time. And CCJK always do a good job in pre-sale and after- sales service.
