

SOME CHINESE FOOD THAT MOST OF KOREAN CAN'T EAT

There are some Chinese food that most of Korean can't eat. If you invite them to have a try with they maybe they will reject your kindness in a manner way.

Most of my Korean friends can't eat caraway. They told me that not only them, but also most of all the Korean people can't eat it, either. Because they think that caraway's smell and taste both are so strange that they can't bear eating it.

So if you go to have meals with Korean people in restaurants, you must ask them if they can eat caraway, if they answer "no.", you must tell the waiters not to put the caraway into the dishes.

Also, there is another food that Korean can't eat. That is pepper. As we Chinese people all know that the pepper will make the dishes tasted much more delicious and we like it very much. But Korean don't think like that.

Maybe if they can get used to pepper, maybe they will like it, too. But of course Chinese foods is greasier and have more quelite than Korean ones. Especially, the Sichuan foods. Very greasy and spicy. But delicious. Dietary habit also is one of national cultures.
